Hi there,

If you entered the RAMROD lottery this year, you received an email Saturday evening notifying you that you did NOT get picked this year.

Well, it turns out you're not the only one - "everyone" who entered received that same email! Something went haywire with the process on April 1st (hmmm, that date...).

We apologize for the confusion but we are working to get the lottery selection run properly and will notify you with next steps in the coming week. We will send you an update, after we come up with a new approach.

Save the date. Keep on training

Please hang in there with us - thanks everyone!
